IKE, FAUBUS CONFERENCE ENDS

Turkey Ousts Two Russians On Spy Charges

By UNITED PRESS

Turkey reacted to a blunt new Soviet warning on the Middle East today by ousting two Russians from the country for spying.

The accused spies — Soviet assistant naval attache Capt. Alexandre Maraguine, 38, and another Russian named Michael Lischin — were caught red-handed by police Friday night trying to buy military information from a young Turk at Bosphorus.

Both were given 48 hours to get out of the country, in which they have lived since 1952.

The Turkish action was not marked officially as reaction to a belligerent note from Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin to Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes. But Westerners regarded it as an indication the Turks would not bow to Russian intimidation.

Release Note

Bulganin's note, delivered last Wednesday and released Friday night in Moscow, warned Turkey that any joint intervention in leftist leaning Syria with the United States would bring disaster to Turkey.

He repeated a charge made earlier this week by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko that the United States is plotting with Turkey to attack Syria.

Western observers in Moscow said Israel could be expected to be the next nation to get a Bulganin threat.

The United States repeatedly has denied it has any intention of intervening in Syria. But that has not slowed the Russian propaganda campaign.

In Athens, a Greek government spokesman lashed back at a Moscow radio broadcast accusing Greece of conspiring with the United States against Syria.

Quote Minister

He said that Greece's friendly ties with all Arab nations are well known and "maybe this fact annoyed Moscow's commentators."

In Cairo, the Middle East News Agency quoted a Saudi Arabian cabinet member, Minister of Communications Abdel Aziz, as pledging his country's support against "aggression" in Syria.

But diplomatic sources in Washington said that just last Aug. 25 King Saud expressed his serious concern to President Eisenhower over pro-Communist developments in Syria.

The Middle East News Agency in Cairo said in a dispatch from Beirut, Lebanon, that the Saudi Arabian monarch would visit Syria on his way home from West Germany in about two weeks. He is undergoing medical treatment in West Germany.

Two Accidents Are Reported In Monessen

Monessen police reported two auto accidents yesterday, one a hit-run and the other involving a police car.

The hit-run accident occurred at the intersection of Fifth St. and Schoonmaker Ave. at 12:15 p.m. Police said a car operated by James Melissas, 114 Fifth St., was damaged in a collision with a truck.

The truck driver failed to stop, police reported. A check of the license plate revealed the owner as Domenick Delgiacco, 318 Third St., Monessen. However Delgiacco told police that the truck was sold recently to Lewis Lowe, 105 Ninth St., Monessen. Police are now looking for Lowe.

At 6:45 p.m., a police car operated by Patrolman Carl Staycer skidded into the rear of an auto driven by Mrs. William T. Cathers Belle Vernon R. D. 3.

Police said Mrs. Mathers was pulling from the curb off the road in the Park Manor housing project and Staycer was unable to stop in time when the police car skidded on the slippery street.

Damage to the Cathers car was slight. There was no damage to the police car, it was reported.

School Building In Brownsville Is Called 'Safe'

A Brownsville school official said today that an architectural firm has pronounced the high school building "structurally sound and safe."

Clarence Sisk, president of the Board of Education, said that classes will resume Monday. He added that no additional student trouble was anticipated in view of the findings of the architect.

Classes at Brownsville High were suspended last Tuesday when students refused to enter the building on grounds that it was unsafe. The day before two Brownsville pupils were injured by falling plaster.

Parents joined in the protest and Brownsville school directors agreed to suspend classes until the 50-year old building — previously earmarked for replacement — was inspected.

Sisk said that the Uniontown architectural firm of J. C. Fulton and Son informed him verbally that the building was structurally safe. Another report by Mining Engineer Robert Wood Jr., said that nearby mining operations would not affect the building, Sisk added.

Monday Deadline For Registration

New voters have just two more days to register in order to be eligible for the general election on Nov. 5 in Westmoreland County.

The registration office at the courthouse in Greensburg will remain open until 9 p.m. tonight and again until that hour on Monday.

Chamber to Open Campaign for Members Monday

The Monessen Chamber of Commerce will launch its membership campaign next Monday at noon with a kickoff luncheon in Johnson's Restaurant.

Harold B. Cramer, chairman of the membership and finance committee, said that 34 "campaigners" will receive instructions and assignments at the luncheon.

According to Cramer, the campaign will last ten days with the goal an all-time high of 500 members. There are now 460 members in the Chamber, meaning that the "campaigners" will have to enroll 40 new members if they are to meet the goal.

Taking part in this year's drive will be Norman Henderson, Edward G. Lhota, Carl R. Chaverin, Paul E. Cramer, Thomas Herron, Fred C. Stockus, Paul T. Nicoden, Leonard C. Stern, Henry Furio, William T. Read, Edwin Melenyzer, Gus Arcuri, Willard Krasik, Charles Williams Jr., Joseph Saladiak, Joseph C. Friedland, Peter Roman, Bernard Samuels, Carl L. Milson, Jay Stark, James Stefl, Michael J. Skirpan Jr., John H. Sylvester, Bernard Shire A. Edward Wilen, James Destefano, Dr. R. E. Palmer Jr., Dr. J. Karl Berry, John Kotch Jr., Joseph Cieply, Dick Bow and Harold T. Baker.

Nicoden and Wilen will serve as team captains. There will be 17 men on each team.

Cramer said that every nonmember business and professional man will be contacted during the drive.

Chamber president Charles W. Hagerstrand will also attend Monday's kickoff luncheon.

Rostraver School District Is Operating Big Bus Business

Of necessity, Rostraver Twp. school district is in the transportation business.

And it's quite a business, too!

Each school day Rostraver buses travel almost 1,000 miles to transport approximately 1,500 students. Last year it cost over $41,000 to operate the township bus fleet.

In charge of the transportation program is Harry Fleming, assistant principal. He is kept busy most of the summer, planning routes which will best serve the sprawling township.

"At the moment, we have ten buses in operation," Fleming said. "We have an eleventh bus ordered, which will give us a much needed spare."

The township employs ten drivers. They are required to take regular physical examinations. Each has a special school bus license issued by the state.

Two Mechanics

Two of the drivers — Ray Milliron and Ben Shawley — are also mechanics. They are constantly checking the buses to insure top mechanical performance. On occasions, the two men have worked far into the night to have a bus in shape for the next day's run.

Fleming said it takes about one hour and 45 minutes to get the 1500 students to and from school. Each bus travels an average of 85 miles daily, making at least three separate trips each morning and afternoon.

The drivers work a split day. Most of them have other jobs to keep them busy between morning and afternoon assignments.

Fleming said that the 60-passenger buses are also used to transport sports teams, band and classes who are making special school trips.

Program 'Praised'

"We are proud of our school bus fleet which is regarded as one of the finest in the state," said Fleming. "Our program has received considerable praise in recent years."

Two members of the student safety patrol ride each trip; one is stationed in the front of the bus, another in the rear. Generally boys handle these assignments.

Something New To Be Added to Halloween Parade

Something new will be added to the 1957 edition of Monessen's annual Halloween Parade.

Edward Lhota, parade chairman, said that a section of floats will join the line of march in this year's parade on Oct. 31.

He invited all city organizations to enter floats, pointing out that prizes will be offered for the best entries.

To be eligible, the floats must be registered either with Lhota or at the office of the Chamber of Commerce.

This year's parade will be sponsored by three groups: the Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce; the Monessen Lions Club and the Monessen Firemen.

"We hope to make the 1957 Halloween parade our biggest and best yet," said Lhota.

Boy Freed in Father's Death

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A 10-year-old boy who shot and killed his father was freed Friday by a coroner's jury which ruled the slaying was "justifiable."

Michael (Mickey) Chervenak asked his mother what the verdict meant when it was announced. The mother, Mrs. Shirley Chervenak, hugged him and replied, "it means you can go home."

Mickey burst into tears and sobbed, "thank the Lord."

The boy, the youngest ever to face a possible murder charge in Allegheny County, testified at the emotion - marked inquest that his father, Michael Chervenak Jr., 31, repeatedly beat him and his mother.

Operations Open Tuesday at New Page Wire Plant

The Monessen Page Division, American Chain & Cable Co., Inc., plans to begin "experimental operations" next Tuesday or Wednesday at its new $225,000 wire patenting plant.

The new facilities are housed in a building 600 feet long and 78 feet wide with 46,800 square feet of floor space.

Harvey W. Seymour, general manager of the Page Division, said that the additional equipment will eventually increase the output capacity of drawn steel wire by some 400 tons a month.

Seymour pointed out that many Monessen residents are acquainted with the new facilities since they were on display last June during an "open house" at the Page Division.

District Football Coach Is Stricken

Al Cree, Monongahela High School football coach, was reported in fair condition today at Monongahela Memorial Hospital where he is undergoing a series of tests.

Cree was taken to the hospital yesterday after being stricken with severe abdominal pains.

Until he returns, the Monongahela football team will be coached by his assistant, Elmo Natali.

Pair Withholds Statement on Arkansas Crisis

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP) — President Eisenhower and Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas conferred for about two hours today, seeking a solution to the Little Rock school integration crisis. The President and the governor decided to wait until later in the day before making any statement on their meeting.

Faubus planned to hold a press conference at the Sheraton Biltmore Hotel in Providence, R.I., at 2 p.m. e.d.t. The vacation White House here at the Newport Naval Base was expected to have a statement shortly thereafter.

Faubus and the President were both smiling and in a handshaking mood as the conference concluded in the Navy Communications Building here.

Wishes Faubus "Luck"

"The President and I had a very friendly and very constructive conference," the governor said.

The President said to Faubus, "Good luck, and I hope this all works out."

Eisenhower and Faubus, who has been reported ready to go to jail if his dramatic face-to-face meeting with the President fails to produce a satisfactory solution, started their conference alone.

But advisers for each side were on hand, ready to be called in as the talk progressed.

They were Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr., presidential assistant Sherman Adams and special counsel Gerald D. Morgan for the President and Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) and Faubus' executive secretary, Arnold Sykes, for the governor.

Faubus Appeared Jovial

Faubus, accompanied by Hays, landed by helicopter on the broad green lawn of the Newport Naval Base. Adams and White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty welcomed the smiling and apparently jovial Arkansas leader.

Faubus and Adams walked immediately to the nearby Navy communications building where the President has his vacation White House offices.

Faubus was ushered immediately into the Chief Executive's office and they began talking alone.

While the President and the governor talked, there was a separate meeting between their advisers.

Later in the morning Eisenhower and Faubus were to join the advisers.

They met against the background of a controversy stirred up by Faubus' use of National Guardsmen to keep Negroes from attending Little Rock schools.

Has Definite Plan

A highly-regarded source told U.P. Correspondent Neil MacNeil in Providence early today that Faubus went into the conference with a definite plan to ease the crisis but with no intention of capitulating.

This source said Faubus would tell the President that if a federal order to integrate Little Rock's schools is suspended, a close study of the problem will be undertaken and every move will be made to integrate as early as possible.

The source in Providence told MacNeil that Faubus believes integration in Little Rock must be delayed, perhaps for a year, if violence is to be avoided.

Carroll Twp. to Dedicate New School Tonight

The new Carroll Twp. Junior High building at Fisher Heights will be formally dedicated tonight at 8 o'clock. An open house will follow.

Erected at a cost of $801,125, the building was partially occupied last year on Sept. 24. However it was not completed until recently.

W. H. Donaldson, superintendent of Washington County Schools, will be the main speaker for the dedication program. Offering remarks will be J. Wilbur Nelson, supervising principal; Michael F. Garry, Jr., principal; Vincent Halverson, president of the board; and Earl L. Sheak, supervising inspector for the state Public School Building Authority.

Rev. Atney Dickerson, pastor of the Sampson Union Church, will offer the invocation and benediction. A flag and bible will be presented to the new school by John H. Dorr, representing the Junior Order of United American Mechanics.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Junior High band under the direction of Robert Rossi.

From 9 to 10:30 p.m., the public is invited to inspect the modern new school. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

Leader Accepts Resignation of James Torrance

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader announced today he has accepted the resignation of suspended Pennsylvania Turnpike Commissioner James F. Torrance, Export.

The resignation was effective June 9. The state Retirement Board has already granted Torrance a lifetime pension of $270 a month, effective June 10. The action formally cleared Torrance's status on the toll road agency since he was given the pension while technically still a state employe.

Gov. Leader suspended the one-time Republican State Chairman last January without pay pending outcome of charges of misconduct in office and conspiracy in connection with the turnpike scandals. He and four others were convicted last July 25 after a lengthy trial.

Torrance's 10 - year term expired June 4, but he was continued in office pending appointment of a successor to the $13,000-a-year post. Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler will take the turnpike position sometime prior to Oct. 1.

Torrance has appealed his conviction in Dauphin County Court. His pension was computed on the basis of his age 69 and state service of 14 years.

Avra Pershing, Wife Team Up to Kick Off Judge Campaign Here

Avra N. Pershing Jr., Republican candidate for common pleas judge in Westmoreland County, said he had a "cordial reception" during a full day of campaigning in Monessen yesterday.

The husky lawyer, former football star at Greensburg High School and Lafayette College, and his wife climaxed the day by spending over an hour at the 12th St. gate of Pittsburgh Steel Co. greeting employes as they entered and left the mill at the 4 p. m. turn change.

"Everyone has been fine to us," Pershing said last night. "The men at the mill were very courteous. Many of them stopped to shake hands and wish us luck. I feel very encouraged."

Mrs. Pershing echoed her husband's sentiments and volunteered a little campaigning device they have worked out in recent weeks during the numerous visits they are making to industrial plants all over the county.

"The men usually are in a hurry as they leave the plant," she said, "which makes it hard to catch them all with match books or cards or whatever it is we're handing out.

"So I find that if I stand just a few steps behind Avra, I can contact many of the men he misses."

Mrs. Pershing said they get many comments from the passers-by.

Yesterday she said a Pittsburgh Steel worker said to her, "Aren't you folks a little early with this? You know the election isn't until November."

"Yes," Mrs. Pershing said she replied, "But we think you'll want some time to think this over carefully."

"Maybe you're right," she said the man replied over his shoulder as he entered the gate.

Pershing is one of six candidates, three Republicans and three Democrats, who are seeking the three vacancies on the common pleas court.

Known as one of the leading lawyers of the county, he is making his first bid for public office. He attracted considerable public attention two years ago when, as a special prosecutor in the 1953 Monessen vote fraud case, he sent six local men, including five members of an election board, to jail for cheating at the polls here.

Pershing makes an impressive campaigner. Six feet tall and with a powerful athletic build, he has a ready smile and an unhurried manner of speaking.

Many who have seen the couple in action say Mrs. Pershing isn't hurting the cause, either.

Big Hole in Ground Has Stopped Spreading

FARNWORTH, England (UP)—Public works crews and firemen manned pumps around the clock today to dry a vast flooded trench that has destroyed 17 dwellings, damaged 14 others and forced 118 families to flee their homes.

An emergency police command post set up at the Flyde Street area said the hole, now 40 feet square and 20 feet deep, had stopped spreading. A spokesman said it still was too early to discover any explanation for the mysterious opening of the ground.

The police, using walkie-talkies, patrolled the perimeter of the hole to warn residents of any possible new danger.

Mrs. Vedan Quegan, whose grocery was the first building destroyed by the hole, said it started as a small crack in Flyde Street and kept growing and growing.

Heavy rains Friday filled the hole with water 14 feet deep, delaying any investigation until sometime next week.

Borough authorities believed a defective sewer may have undermined the street, causing the surface to collapse. Other officials said it might have been an abandoned coal mine caving in.

However, officials found no records to show whether there once were coal mines in this Lancashire area of the British midlands.

The collapsing earth destroyed several storm sewers and forced police to cut off gas and electricity to the area. Most of those evacuated were put up by friends or relatives, but others were forced to spend the night in emergency shelters.

Mrs. Quegan said the whole thing was a "terrible shock."

She said she and her husband first saw the hole when they got up Wednesday morning.

No Injuries in Two-car Accident

State Police reported no injuries in a two car accident on Route 51 six miles south of Elizabeth yesterday morning.

According to police, Reynold J. DeAngelis, 24, Connellsville, stopped on the highway for a school bus which was picking up passengers. The DeAngelis car was struck in the rear by a vehicle operated by Homer Carter, 37, Uniontown.

Carter will be charged with driving too fast for conditions, police said. Damage to both cars was estimated at $500.

Hurt in Accident

Frank Scavrek, 21, of Box 282, Roscoe, was treated and released for cuts and bruises early today at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital following an auto accident. No details of the mishap were available.

Wilson's 'Rich Friends' Give Him Pat on Back

WASHINGTON (UP)—The "rich friends" whom Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson once rebuked have given him a pat on the back.

Wilson took a verbal swing at his "rich friends" earlier this year after the U.S. Chamber of Commerce criticized defense spending He suggested his former associates in the business world could well afford the taxes they were paying.

Chamber President Philip M. Talbott alluded to the incident Thursday night at a meeting of the chamber's national defense committee attended by Wilson.

"What he believed he said, and he said it bluntly . . . with short, punchy words that may have stung a few people here and there, but always left the air a lot clearer than it was before."

Truman Lunches With Men Who 'Started Trouble'

NEW YORK (UP) — Former President Truman lunched Friday with the men who "got me in all the trouble."

The trouble was the presidency of the United States, and the men were members of the Senate War Investigating Committee, which raised Truman to such political heights that he was nominated for the vice presidency.

"The committee that got me in all the trouble," Truman joked with newsmen.

The former Chief Executive was accompanied to the reunion lunch by Mrs. Truman and his daughter, Margaret Daniel, and her husband.

Truman will address the 60th annual convention of the Zionist organization of America tonight.

LOST BOY

Dry those tears, Sonny. The Law has brought you home.

But when you're grown up, don't get lost then—for the Law won't be able to bring you home!

Sure, grown-ups often get lost. They choose the wrong road, they take the wrong turn, they depend on the wrong ideas, they seek the wrong aims. And some of them get lost again and again.

Why can't the Law bring them home, too? Well, when a grown-up gets lost he generally does a lot of harm to himself and others. And then it's the job of the Law to protect people from the harm he is doing.

But, Sonny, when you grow up you're not going to get lost. We have thousands of churches for youngsters like you—and for your parents, too. Churches teach us to find ourselves before we have a chance to get lost.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children s sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily

'GYPSY' TELEPHONE EXCHANGE — This semi-trailer office will begin serving approximately 300 Bell Telephone customers in the Fairhope-Arnold City area next month. Located on Perry St. in Fairhope, the mobile dial exchange is appropriately titled "Gypsy." The unique unit, which provides dial service, will operate until the Belle Vernon office converts to dial in 1959.

Mobile Phone Service Planned For Fairhope-Arnold City Area

A new mobile dial telephone exchange, first of its kind in Pennsylvania, will begin serving Bell Telephone customers in the Fairhope-Arnold City area next month.

J. Lawrence Buchanan, the telephone company's district manager, said the new unit has arrived at its base on Perry St. in Fairhope and is now being prepared for service.

This unique semi-trailer telephone office is designed to ease the traffic load currently being handled by the Belle Vernon office.

It will also accommodate the expected telephone growth in the area until the Belle Vernon office is converted to dial operation in 1959, Buchanan said.

The mobile office will be known as "Gypsy." It will provide dial service for approximately 300 customers in the Fairhope-Arnold City section.

Only telephones with Gypsy numbers will be dial-operated. All other Belle Vernon telephones and those on multi-party lines, as well as coin-operated telephones, will be manually operated.

There will be some duplication of numbers among telephones served by the Gypsy and the Belle Vernon offices, Buchanan explained. Both Gypsy and Belle Vernon numbers will be listed in the Monongahela Valley telephone directory.

When the new mobile office goes into operation next month, telephone customers using manual telephones will ask for desired numbers by telling the operator whether a Gypsy or a Belle Vernon number is being called.

Customers using Gypsy telephones will simply dial the four figures of the listed number to reach other Gypsy telephones. However, to call a Belle Vernon number from a Gypsy telephone, it will be necessary to dial the code figure "9" and then give the desired Belle Vernon number to the operator who answers.

All other calls from Gypsy telephones will be placed directly through the operator.

Rostraver

but occasionally a girl is picked.

The patrol boys (or girls) assist the younger students when they are discharged from the buses.

Bus shelters are located throughout the district to accommodate the students.

Rostraver went into the transportation business back in 1941 when four buses were purchased. Prior to that, a private bus company handled transportation.

Since then, the bus fleet has grown to a point where almost 75 per cent of the township students are now travellers.

"It's quite a job mapping our bus routes to provide the best service possible," pointed out Fleming. "Even with ten buses, it's impossible to drive up to everyone's doorstep. We have a strict time schedule to observe in order to get the youngsters to school on time."

Only a handful of township students are now required to walk any great distance to catch a bus. And usually these students live along back roads which are considered too dangerous for bus travel.

The cost of the Rostraver bus program is shared by the state and school district.

Superintendent of Schools E. F. Carter estimated that 60 per cent of the bus bill last year was paid by the state.

Council Should Make a Decision

WE HOPE the Monessen City Council will reconsider its decision to ask for a popular vote as to whether the Council should or should not request the Charleroi Borough Authority to fluoridate the local water supply.

The Council obviously was acting hastily last Wednesday when it decided on a referendum as a means of avoiding a stand on a controversial subject. And on the surface, it may seem like good politics to let the people make such a decision.

But if it is good politics, it is not sound government. The Council is a representative body to which the people delegate the responsibility of making decisions in accordance with the best judgment of the members. In a very few special instances, such as electoral bond issues, the law provides for direct decisions by the voters. But on such a problem as determining the chemical content of the water supply we see no more cause for a referendum than, for instance, in determining whether a street should be paved with asphalt or concrete.

* * *

A KIND of fanatical minority, using scare tactics, has made fluoridation something of a "hot potato" over the nation. Some communities have actually been frightened away from fluoridation by the insidious propaganda of these fadists who insist that something horrible will happen to people who drink water with this "poison" in it.

But about 40 million Americans are now drinking this "poison". Many thousands of them are drinking water — and have been for generations — in which fluorides appear naturally in quantities far greater than the infinitesmal amounts that are added synthetically where fluoridation is adopted as a public health measure.

Every responsible scientific study that has been made attests that fluoridation is not only perfectly safe but that it definitely prevents about 60 per cent of the decay in children's teeth.

* * *

WE HATE to see a public body like our City Council flinch at recommending something worthwhile for the community because a vocal little group, many of whom are just against "medicine" on general principles or for personal reasons, chooses to set up a silly howl about "mass medication". A popular referendum could very well degenerate into a propaganda contest with no guarantee of a scientifically correct result.

Our councilmen, in consultation with the appropriate public health authorities, ought to be capable of deciding whether to recommend fluoridation to the Charleroi Authority. And we hope they will not run out on the responsibility.

Anybody Scared?

WE SUPPOSE the announcement that the Syrian Army has been placed under the orders of the Egyptian Army is intended to scare somebody.

But it is not likely to scare anybody who remembers what happened a year or so ago when the Israeli Army invaded Egypt. The Egyptian Army collapsed in less than a week and the Israelis marched to their assigned destinations with no interference to speak of.

Since then, of course, the Egyptians and the Syrians have both received unknown quantities of Russian equipment and presumably some Russians to show them how to operate it.

But even under Russian direction, it is hard to conceive that the combined Egyptian and Syrian armies would be a very formidable outfit.

Lorrin Culler

LORRIN Culler, who died on Thursday at the age of 75, was one of Monessen's most respected citizens.

He had lived in this community from the first year of its incorporation, a total span of 60 years. For 16 years he served as the city's treasurer and was an ideal public official, efficient, courteous and thoroughly dependable.

As businessman, civic worker and churchman, Mr. Culler lived a life of useful citizenship, and the whole community mourns his passing.

The Russians say they don't care to exchange television broadcast with us. Probably they're afraid of our secret weapon — Perry Como.

Those Centerville pupils who went on strike because they can't each lunch in 20 minutes aren't like most youngsters of our acquaintance.

Little Rock Showdown Necessary

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Something in the nature of a tacit understanding seems to have been reached between Governor Faubus and the administration. It is that the issue between them is to be resolved by judicial proceedings carried on slowly and with great deliberation. The Department of Justice is avoiding any move which would soon precipitate a showdown between the Governor and the federal power. It is no doubt hoping that this will bring about a cooling-off period, during which something will somehow be arranged to make a showdown unnecessary.

Mr. Lippmann

The Governor, for his part, has declared in the statement he published on Monday that he does not in principle oppose and mean to resist integration in the public schools of Arkansas. Moreover, he has said that he will accept the results of the final judicial ruling. It is understood that in the meantime he can use the National Guard to keep the Central High School segregated.

Showdown Forced

In the whole field of the Negro's advance to civic equality, it is a wise general rule to avoid letting issues reach a point where there has to be a showdown. But unhappily, in the Little Rock case, the Governor himself has acted to force a showdown between himself and the law of the land. We are in a situation where, if we avoid a showdown with the Governor, we have in fact given in to him and condoned a violation of the law. The nation through its federal government is placed in a position by the Governor where it must choose between upholding and surrendering its authority, he having left open no middle ground of compromise.

It is a most unhappy affair, and it will be a miracle if it does not mean a great setback in the improvement of relations between the races in the South and between the Southern states and the Northern states. It seems to me that Mr. Roscoe Drummond must be right when he said this week that the Southern senators who refrained from a filibuster against the civil rights bill are under severe attack in their own states. The showdown which Governor Faubus has forced in Arkansas will almost certainly incite and embitter the extreme segregationist factions all over the South.

Liberals Threatened

It will, therefore, jeopardize the political future of the liberal Southern politician. This would be a tragedy. For in the liberal political leaders of the South lies this country's only hope of domestic peace through an accommodation. Were the liberals to be overwhelmed, and the prospects of a gradual settlement destroyed, the conflict would become an ugly one.

This is the second half of the 20th Century, a turning point, as the Southern liberals realize, all over the world in the relations between the white and the colored peoples. Without the Southern liberals to assuage the issue, the outlook will be for very serious trouble.

The situation is one in which the whole climate could be changed by a President who took command, who spoke clearly, in no uncertain terms, to the patriotism, the common sense, and the good will of the people. There ought to be somebody around whom the nation can rally with confidence, rising above the passion of this envenomed struggle.

But at present there is nobody who is unmistakably in command, nobody who is speaking clearly, nobody who is really working seriously to bring order, plan, purpose, and control into what is in fact a drift into disorder.

Pearson Sees Royal Couple

(Editor's note: Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter written from southeast Europe to his grandson, George L. Arnold Jr.)

By DREW PEARSON

Corfu, Greece
Sept. 3, 1957

Dear Georgie:

You have read in your storybooks about bad kings and good kings, about beautiful queens and young princesses. There have been lots of kings in the world, and many of them have been very hard on the people they ruled. But the other day I went to see a modern King and Queen, who are very much alive, who are loved by their subjects and who were very nice to me.

They are King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece, and they live during the summer on Corfu, a beautiful island of little gardens and tall cyprus trees off the Albanian-Greek coast. The King and Queen live in a house — not as big as a castle — on top of a hill, and when I met them the Queen very graciously called me "an old friend," which was not really, true, because I had met her only once before. She just meant I was an old friend of Greece.

The Queen was feeling quite sad that day because she said she had just had a terrible accident that killed her little dog. He was run over and she said she was afraid she had run over him herself when he jumped in front of her car.

The Queen's Babies

Philip Clarke of Newsweek then told the Queen how he was adopting a Greek baby from her orphanage, and this made her feel better. Queen Frederika has worked very hard taking care of babies who have no father and mother.

"My daughter works in the orphanage," she said. "She has been there one year and will spend another year. It's the first time that a member of the royal family has taken any training like that. I'm so glad. Have you picked your baby yet?" she asked Mr. Clarke.

"Yes," he said, "a five-month old little girl. It was hard to do, but after I had seen her once I went through the orphanage a second time and she smiled at me and held on to my finger as if she wanted to come with me."

"You know," said the Queen, "sometimes I think our children pick us more than we pick them. One night when I was putting my four-year-old daughter to bed, she looked up at me and said, 'Mummie, I'm so glad I picked you.'

"I was puzzled. But she explained 'when I was up with Jesus I looked down and I saw you and I decided you were to be my mummie. And I'm so glad I picked you.'

"Maybe it's more true than we realize that our children pick us," said the Queen.

Visiting the U. S. A.

I asked the Queen about her trip to the United States.

"We had a wonderful time," she said. "Everyone was so sweet to us. I had never held a press conference before, but the State Department told me I would have to hold one and I was petrified. I must say, however, that the press was most kind to us. In fact, they couldn't have been nicer.

"Toward the end of the trip in Los Angeles I wanted to so some shopping. I had heard so much about the stores in Los Angeles. But when I started out, 15 newspapermen were waiting to go with me. I asked the State Department to persuade them to go away but the State Department said there was nothing it could do. So I explained to them that at home I couldn't do any shopping; this was my only opportunity. 'But if you follow me,' I said, 'then I can't shop.' So they were very kind and left me alone."

I asked the Queen what happened when she shopped in Athens.

"It makes too much of a problem for the traffic policeman," she explained.

You see, the people of Greece love the Queen so much and are so anxious to see her that they follow her around.

I also talked to the King. He was very nice and very easy to talk to. I thought it would be interesting to find out how well a king had to prepare himself for the job of conferring with the leaders of other countries and I asked him how many languages he spoke.

The Job of Being King

"Five," he said, "Greek, English, French, German and Italian — though my Italian is a little rusty."

"What language do you use when you confer with Tito?"

"German," replied the King, "though Tito is now learning to speak English quite well."

"When are you coming to visit the United States again?"

"I would really like to come every year," said the King as if he genuinely meant it, "but it's so difficult. You are so hospitable and do so much for a visitor that things become quite complicated when you visit America. It's not like traveling in Europe."

"Can you travel around Europe without being noticed?"

"I just get in my car and drive wherever I wish," he explained.

"When you go to Vienna next week, will that be a state visit?"

"No, we're going there quite unofficially. Of course, while there, we'll pay a call on the President."

Then the King went on to tell about his arrival in New York. He received a telegram from the State Department and the Greek Embassy in Washington telling him not to do or say anything to the press until the ambassador and Jack Simmons, the protocol officer, arrived.

"Meanwhile Grover Whalen came aboard our ship early in the morning to tell us that never before had foreign visitors failed to see the press on arrival. We showed him the telegram from the State Department and said we didn't know what to do. It was the then about 7 in the morning and even at that hour the press was waiting. Finally we went out on deck to meet them.

"How long have you been up?" my wife asked. 'Since 4 in the morning,' they replied. Well, that broke the ice and from that time on, the press and everyone else treated us wonderfully."

So you see Georgie, kings and queens can be just like other people, at least this king and queen are. Greece is the country where democracy was born and is a democracy today. But it seemed to me that King Paul and Queen Frederika work hard not only for the people of Greece, but also — as I sometimes say over the radio — to make democracy live.

Be a good boy and I hope to be home and see you soon.

Love,
Grandpa.

Well-informed sources advised today that the Pittsburgh Railway Co. will decline a state highway department request for removal of the Donora-Monongahela Trolley line to permit widening of the highway between the two cities. The railway company reportedly believes bus operation to be more expensive than trolly operation as one reason for the refusal.

Three hundred seventy five students and 10 teachers at the Sampson Consolidated School, near Monongahela, stayed home from classes today while officials awaited outcome of analysis of blood samples taken from a pupil suffering from a strange illness. Council's Plan for a Municipal Library Compliment to People

By HARRY R. PORE Jr.

Whether they realized it or not, the people of Monessen were paid a nice compliment this week by their representatives on the City Council.

For when the members of Council decided to ask the people to approve an increase in the City's debt of $200,000 in order to construct a new library building, it seemed to me that they were saying in effect:

Our people have now matured to the point where they will support us in a major effort to improve the cultural life of the community.

And I can't think of a more sincere compliment which a group of elected public officials could pay to their constituents.

The library bond issue, to be voted on Nov. 5, presents a different kind of question than any that have been submitted to Monessen's voters in the past.

Almost any citizen can understand that you have to have money to pave streets and construct sewers. So when a bond issue is submitted for those purposes, the voter either concurs in or rejects the council's decision as to the timing of the program and the amount involved.

When our High School burned in 1946 and we were confronted with the problem of replacing it, there really could not be much argument on the general proposition. We had to have an adequate high school, and there were no two ways about it.

Better than Nothing

But I suppose it can be maintained with a certain logic that Monessen could continue to muddle along with a makeshift public library maintained by an annual catch-as-catch-can effort through a private association. After all, Monessen had no library at all until 1936, and it is certainly true that what we have is far, far better than nothing.

The councilmen are saying, however, that this isn't good enough for Monessen, that we need a public library which comes somewhere near meeting the accepted standards, at least providing minimum service. They are planning a program towards that goal and asking the people to support it with their votes.

When I say this is a tribute to the maturity of our presentday citizens, I'm not making just an idle observation. Those who have worked in the Civic Library Association over the years know that the need of a good library has not always been enthusiastically grasped in some quarters. In fact, we have sometimes encountered opposition in the oddest places.

I will never forget years ago calling on a professional man who happened also to be a member of the school board. I was asking him just to take a membership in the Library Association, the annual dues being $5.

We have a library in the High School and that's enough, he told me — we don't need a public library. No membership for him.

If I hadn't been looking at him as he said it, I'd have sworn he was joking. Surely no person who had had a college education, had taken graduate training in a profession and then accepted responsibilities in public education could fail to understand the importance of books and necessity for having them readily available. But there it was, and I didn't bother to argue with the gentleman.

Hard Effort Needed

There is no way of knowing, of course, what the result might have been in those days had a bond issue for public library purposes been submitted to the people. But I suspect it would have been hard to put across.

Perhaps this one will be, too. I hope those who are interested in its approval will advocate it vigorously and not run the risk of possible misunderstanding or indifference defeating it.

But I have the notion that a sizable majority of our citizens today recognizes that a good city does not consist entirely of well kept streets and adequate sewers, vital though they certainly are. A well-rounded community life also calls for advantages which are above the bread-and-butter level, and foremost among these would be a proper public library.

Yes, I think it was a fine compliment the councilmen paid us. And I rather think we'll show on Nov. 5 that it is deserved.

Dry Weather Killing Many Fall Flowers

By JOHN H. DAY

Perched on a sun-warmed boulder deep in the hill country, I demolished my sandwiches, absorbed a half-pound of white grapes and topped off my leisurely lunch with a cinnamon-flavored pastry which has been known in our family for generations as a "love roll." For dinner music I had the small symphony the tiny breeze plucked from the harp-strings of the young white pines all around me. For companions I had a pair of nosy yellow jackets who insisted on sharing a bite of the grapes and the strawberry jam in my sandwiches.

The singing pines are great tale bearers. They gather up the gossip borne in by the winds from the ends of the earth. When the winds mutter and grumble along at a 40 mile trip the pines sing the age-old epic of crashing forces. The song of the sea can be clearly heard — the rush of waves the deep boom of pounding surf and the uproar of the gale.

Far different is the music of the pines on a sunny summer afternoon. As I relaxed there the gossipy bough wove dainty tales of romance. They crooned little stories of tropic nights, and great lantern moons. There was a sadness in their singing as they sorted out the messages written on the wind. I could sense a tiny shudder as they caught the faint word from the far north that summer is moving off-stage and already the boreal blasts are building up their icy armaments.

Woodpecker Complains

From somewhere in the timber across the valley a pileated woodpecker complained. His is a querulous, high-pitched scolding. One writer recently said he sounds like an old maid who has just been robbed. Listen to him grumbling nervously to himself and this description becomes amusingly fitting. The only other bird notes to underscore my lunch hour came from a Carolina wren who indulged in an occasional solo performance.

Hidden deep in a thicket on the hilltop beyond the wide creek was once the largest and most productive patch of bittersweet in my hiking bailiwick. To get to this area you had first to make it across the creek, then you had to make the stiff climb up through the tress to the ridge. Then you had to wade through a large stand of poison ivy and after crawling over two wire fences you were finally in the hidden retreat. Very few other folk ever knew that patch existed.

I gathered the gorgeous berries each fall, pruning them judiciously so as not to harm the vines. But the thicket grew closer and higher each year and had started to push the bittersweet vines out. This year the long-continued drought didn't help. When I finally sweated my way back into the thicket there was not a berry to be seen, and the vines were hanging dead on their supporting trees.

I suppose we'll live through the winter without the big bowl of colorful berries in the corner of the living room, but the place won't seem the same. I was amazed to find the big creek nearly bone dry. Most of the small brooks hereabouts have been dry for some time, but this is a man-sized creek, housing some big bass and a few large carp. I suppose they have all been caught out by anglers who cornered them in the few pockets where water still lies.

Land Parched

It was a tragic thing to see the tiny minnows trying to stay alive in small yard-square ponds an inch or so deep. Many had given up the struggle and floated belly up. Across the countryside the shrinking waters must have killed small fish by the millions. In many years of hiking the byways in the hill country I have never before seen the land so parched or the streams so depleted.

With all the dryness a few flowers can be seen along the woodland edgings. The tall yellow ironweed is in evidence, and the white snakeroot. Some of the tall wild lettuce plants are starting to open their blooms. I saw the distinctive blue berries of the wild sarsaparilla and an occasional pokeberry full of the dark fruits. Unless a soaking rain come soon to the rescue the fall flowers will go the way of the bittersweet and died in their tracks.

It's a Fact—

The rat can live longer without water than any other mammal.

The nighthawk, giving its nasal cry as it swirls over cities, is a thoroughly misnamed bird. It is not a hawk at all, but a member of the bird family called goatsuckers. And none of the family sucks goats.

ON THE BALL

By CLAIR BROWN

Tonight's the Night for 'Hounds

Well, tonight's the night for Monessen High School's 1957 grid team. After four weeks of intensive drills the 'Hounds take on the Windber Ramblers, 78 miles from home . . . A fairly large delegation of Monessen fans will be on hand, according to pre-game ii lications, despite the distance . . . Several routes were suggested to this writer but the one published on this page the other day (To Greensburg, take Route 30 to Reel's Corners, then left there onto Route 160, travel 12 more miles and you are in Windber) was the most simplified method of getting to the game . . . Numerous route numbers, when in print, only make for confusion . . . Later in the season the 'Hounds can sit back and wait the arrival of Johnstown as the Johnnies make practically the same trip but in reverse.

* * *

Ed Paulick of Monongahela and Leonard Demalon, of Elizabeth, will be two district grid products in the St. Vincent College lineup when the Bearcats open the '57 campaign with Indiana State Teachers College at Bearcat Stadium this afternoon. Kickoff time is 2:15 o'clock . . . Al DeLuca's boys will be the heaviest of any team the Bearcats have fielded in years. For instance Paulick goes 185, Demalon 230, the ends go 195 and 180, etc . . . The Steelers' reelasing Lynn Chadnois shouldn't have come as too much of a surprise as Lynn had been conspicious by his absence in the exhibition tilts.

* * *

Redstone Issue Far From 'Dead'

Charleroi Principal Ed Luse has been asked to appear before the school board there and explain why Redstone was not invited into the newly-organized Big Five Conference . . . Apparently the explanations given by the current officers of the loop weren't satisfactory . . . We mentioned here last week that Redstone officials had sent letters to the school boards of the five conference schools and this is apparently the result of that letter . . . Rumors have it other valley principals will be called by their respective boards . . . Pirates Buddy Pritchard and Bill Mazeroski will soon be in the army — but only for six month hitches, which will have them out in time for late spring training next year.

* * *

Wednesday night of next week the efforts of Monessen's terrific summer recreation program will be climaxed with the annual banquet honoring the City Marble champions and the Little League baseball team sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars here, in the Vets' Home. . . . An interesting program has been arranged by VFW Athletic Chairman Frederic Feldman . . . A soccer game is set for Dunlevy tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with the Redbirds, piloted this year by Jimmy (Crackers) Harrison battling Van Voorhis in an exhibition tuneup for the 1957 Washington County League season . . . The two rivals met last week and the Vans copped the Duke, 4-1.

Steelers - Bears Shrine Tilt Tonight

Pittsburgh's Steelers and the Chicago Bears go at it tonight for a worthy cause in the second annual Syria Shrine Football game at Forbes Field . . . Game time is 8 o'clock but the pre-game festivities which feature a Shrin-a-rama of high school bands rivaling that of the East-West Shrine game on New Year's Day, begin at 6 o'clock . . . All proceeds from the game will go to Shrine hospitals for crippled children . . . It'll be the home debut of the '57 Steelers and the initial bow of new coach Buddy Parker . . . Speaking of the Steelers, do you remember when they were the Pirates and Monessen's Armand Niccolai was a big star of the team, setting NFL field goal marks that stood for years?

Greyhounds Invade Windber Tonight

Locals Lift Lid On 1957 Season With Ramblers

Monessen High School's Greyhounds open their 1957 season tonight at Windber, near Johnstown, against a question-mark Rambler eleven which some say looks rugged others say "pretty good".

What is known is that the Windber eleven has a holdover crackerjack in Don Dona, converted from quarterback to fullback and four others who won letters last year.

Also a known fact is that Windber is always tough.

Many local fans are planning on making the 78 mile trip with several routes suggested, the easiest being Route 30 out of Greensburg to Reel's Corners and then onto 160 to Windber. The stadium there is said to seat 10,000.

Coach Armand Niccolai says he is anxious to see the locals in action as they are inexperienced and he doesn't know what to expect.

Named as starters by "Nick" were Paul Tobacco and Dennis O'Toole as starters, ends, Bobo Aldrich and Vince Pascarella at tackle, Terry Throop and Bob Pauline at guards, Tom Churan at center with Dan Barton at quarter, Ken Bronson and Joe Karbowsky at the halves and Carl Rattay at fullback.

Windber will show Aloysius Tavalsky and John Boruch at ends, Joe Kosturko and Tom Klena at tackles, John Csordas and Bob Zvolerin at guards, Mike Hynick at center with a backfield of Bob Minitti at quarter, Tom Marron, and George Patrick at halves and Dona at fullback.

The local team was leaving by bus this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

West Newton - Bears Play to 13-13 Tie

ELLSWORTH, Sept. 14 — West Newton overcame a 13-0 Bentleyville lead to gain a 13-13 deadlock in a game played yesterday afternoon at Ellsworth High field.

Quarterback Leone sneaked over for the second West Newton touchdown and Dixon added the extra point on a plunge with 3:30 left in the game.

West Newton scored late in the third stanza on a pass from Leone to end George Lander, which covered 14 yards.

The tie eliminated both teams from contention in the WPIAL Class B. race.

Vocational Midget Loop Player Eligible

John Sivie, who lives at Crescent Dr., Monessen, was ruled eligible today for Midget Football League competition even though he attends a school in Rostraver twp.

League President Allen Kline announced the ruling after consulting with Commissioner Armand Niccolai, who is the final word on all eligibility cases.

MFL rules clearly state that "only boys who attend school in the City of Monessen are eligible to compete in league play."

However, Commissioner Niccolai justified his ruling by pointing out that the "spirit" of the rule will actually be violated if Sivie is not permitted to play.

The youngster, who will join the Vocational squad, lives in the annexed part of the city still claimed by Rostraver School District. A legal battle is now waged between the Monessen and Rostraver school districts over students in this area.

Sivie's father has actually contributed to legal expenses in an effort to have his children attend Monessen schools, league officials pointed out.

Commissioner Niccolai also reminded that boys in the area would be eligible under current MFL rules if they attended parochial schools in the city.

"This would actually create a situation of discrimination against youngsters who attend public school," Niccolai said.

In ruling on the Sivie case, league officials said they have now established a precedent. All other boys in the annexed area will be eligible for MFL competition even if they are forced to attend Rostraver schools.

Sivie was withheld from the MFL opener last Tuesday, pending a ruling on his case.

North Catholic Stops Donora, 27-19

A rough and tough North Catholic football team held off a second half rally by Donora to take a 27-19 decision at the losers' field last night.

A reserve quarterback, Dan Laughlin, paced the Trojan victory, tossing a pair of touchdown passes. Fred Galovich, a halfback veteran, contributed two TDs to the winners cause.

For Donora, Tom Urbanik scored on runs of 65 and 18 yards. Angelo Dabiero also crossed the diagonals for the Dragons after taking a pass from Dave Russell on a play which carried 35 yards.

Galovich counted on a one-yard plunge and at the end of a 20-yard play. Laughlin, who was pressed into service because of an injury in practice to the regular signal-caller, pitched to Bill Votel for four yards to chalk up a NC score, then plunged five yards himself for another.

The visitors piled up a big 27-0 lead in the first three periods before the Dragons got going.

Score by periods:

North Catholic	7	7	6	7	—27
Donora	0	0	13	6	—19

Perryopolis Surprises Bellmar With 26-6 Opener 'Spanking'

Bellmar High School grid fans are still wondering today "Wha' Hoppen" following a 26-6 defeat by their highly-touted Hurricanes at the hands of Perryopolis (Perry-Lower Tyrone) in the season' opener at Perry last night.

What started out as if to be a nip-and-tuck contest turned into an all-Perry night as the game wore on until the final whistle.

Early in the first quarter following a Bellmar punt, which Wayne King returned to the 'Cane 46, Perry started a drive which didn't stop except for recovering its own fumble until Chauncy Chambers ploughed over from the seven yard line and Ron Stover plunged for the extra point.

The first three times Bellmar had the ball Reggie Kostelac rolled the Hurricanes to three first downs. Then Quarterback Larry Petras faded back from the 19-yard line and hit Kostelac with a TD toss only to have it called back by a penalty.

Twice more Bellmar was to get close to the Commodore goal and have the play called back because of penalties. The 'Canes were also plagued by intercepted passes.

Perry scored again quickly right after the opening of the second half when the Commodores drove 70 yards for another score with Stover going over for the score, the extra point running attempt being stopped.

Bellmar started a 38-yard drive in the fourth period which was climaxed by Reggie Kostelac crashing through for the tally after the 'Canes had rolled up four first downs. The extra-point kick attempt was blocked.

It appeared Bellmar was back in the game but Paul Cernuska, Perry fullback suddenly broke into the open for a 60-yard touchdown run and Chambers plunged for the extra point. Later in the fourth quarter Bob Piersol, who had been a thorn in Bellmar's side all evening, went over from the six after Wayne King had carried an intercepted Bellmar pass to the 10, for the final 26-6 count.

First downs favored Perry 10-6.

Although only a Class B school Perry appeared to out-weigh the heavy Hurricanes, a factor which helped in the wet playing field. The game was played in a drizzle and partial fog.

Brownies Edge Munhall, 14-13

Art Bentley, three-year veteran halfback, garnered both Brownsville TDs, one on an eight-yard romp in the first quarter following a Munhall fumble with Allen Lee Sepsi crashing over for the extra point.

The tying touchdown came in the fourth canto with Bentley plunging four yards into the end zone. The score came following 74-yard drive by the Brownsville club. Bentley crashed over right tackle for the winning point.

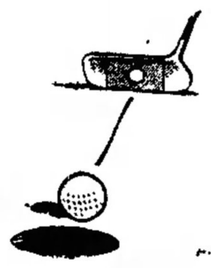
DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF



Putts Left Short

This is a subject I'm a real expert on. I left dozens of putts short in this year's British Open at St. Andrews. The usual reason was that I was hitting the ball off-center instead of catching it solidly in the middle of the face of the putter.

To putt well, you must have a good touch on the greens. That means that your muscles MUST KNOW instinctively how hard to hit the ball to make it travel a given distance on a green. And you must trust this instinctive judgment.

Nearly all golfers have a good idea how hard a ball should be hit to make it reach the hole from a spot on a green they are familiar with. They have the touch.

But the finest touch in the world is no good unless you hit the ball a square blow with your putter. All touch depends on that.

So practice your putting with the thought in mind of hitting the center of the ball with the center of the putter face. Keeping the head perfectly still is the best thing you can do to promote this solid combination of putter and ball.

Sugar Ray to Retire If—

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (UP)—If Ray Robinson beats Carmen Basilio Sept. 23, Sugar Ray will retire as undefeated middleweight champion within six months to become an actor, he indicated today.

"I have several offers from the movies, stage and television," the slender 160-pound ruler said, "and I'm considering them seriously."

But if welterweight champion Basilio, the 8-5 favorite, takes away Robinson's crown at Yankee Stadium, "then I don't know what I'll do. You know we have a contract for a return bout within 60 days, if I lose."

Williams May Call it Quits For '57 Season

BOSTON (UP)—Because of unusually warm weather and a lingering respiratory ailment, Ted Williams, the major leagues' leading hitter at 376, was just about ready to call it quits for the 1957 season today.

Williams, who has been missing from the Boston Red Sox lineup since Sept. 1 when he was stricken by an upper respiratory infection following the completion of a series in Baltimore, called off a scheduled Fenway Park workout Friday night on orders of club physician Dr. Ralph McCarthy.

McCarthy, who made the announcement, said only that Williams would be examined today.

Mickey Mantle, engaged in a hot duel with Williams for the batting title, returned to the New York Yankee lineup Friday after a 10-day absence because of shin splints. Mantle collected two hits to raise his batting mark to 370.

How Williams and Mantle compare:

Tighten Grip on 7th Slot

CHICAGO (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates took a tighter grip on seventh place Friday by sweeping a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs, 4-1 and 2-1.

Pirate starters Bob Friend and Bob Smith chalked up the victories and put Pittsburgh 2½ games out of the cellar.

In the opener, the Pirates tied the score 1-1 in the third. Homers by Hank Foiles and Bob Skinner in the sixth and seventh innings, respectively, gave the Bucs a 3-1 edge, and Friend aided his own cause in the eighth with a run scoring double.

In the nightcap Gene Freese singled home Dick Groat with the winning run after Groat singled to open the ninth inning. Groat moved to second on Bob Skinner's sacrifice and to third when Cub Starter Moe Drabowsky uncorked a wild pitch.

The other pirate run came in the first, when Billy Virdon tripled, driving in Paul Smith who had walked to open the game.

Pittsburgh meets Chicago in another daylight doubleheader today.

The Pirates today announced the signing of two players to 1958 contracts with their Clinton, Iowa, farm club in the Class D Midwest League.

They were catcher Joe Rhinehart, 21, a righthander from Canton N C, and second baseman Larry E. Hill, 16, of Tampa, Fla

Rebuild Burned-out Lawn Early In Fall Season, Nursery Urges

There's a lot to be gained in outside home beautification from the advice and products of a firm like Henry's Nursery which is located on Express Highway, two miles from Belle Vernon Bridge toward Bentleyville. Phone Hudson 3-7218

This nursery, well known in this area, sells evergreens, flowering shrubs, roses, hedges, fruit and shade trees, fertilizer, peat moss, and offers a general landscaping service.

Many lawns have dried up around here due to the long dry spell this Summer.

Since this area has been so dry this year, here's some good advice about lawns. Rebuild that burned-out lawn of yours early in the Fall.

Early autumn is the best time to rebuild those lawns that are burned out by this summer's heat and drought.

The moist nights and warm afternoons prior to frost time make ideal conditions for re-establishing a lawn. In the spring it will come up vigorous and green.

It is usually best to dig up the patched area and start from scratch, according to experts.

"Don't just sprinkle seed on the bare spots," they advise. "There will be a wastage of seed because the grass will be shallow-rooted and sickly."

Instead, break up the ground with a fork to a depth of six inches or so. You can use a power tiller for this or equipment that can be attached to a small garden tractor. Or, of course, you can do it with hand tools.

Work into the soil a small amount of fertilizer and compost. Peat moss also is good to keep the soil from compacting.

Rake to a smooth surface. Sow the seed thickly. Go both crosswise and lengthwise over the area. Then roll lightly and soak well.

Be sure to keep the newly seeded area clear of falling leaves. They tend to smother new grass.

Have Bill Ross Check Your Car For Fall Days

The approach of Fall — just around the corner—means added attention to your car, Mr. Motorist, particularly if you want to achieve the most pleasure from driving and better performance, as we all do.

So you'd be wise to drive to the Bill Ross Penzoil Service Station, 111 Donner avenue in Monessen, that has served so many patrons in the city and valley well for years, and have Mr. Ross check it over.

You'll soon be needing antifreeze and if you're going to get permanent as most people do, then it can be done right now, and you'll be ready for the first freeze of the Fall season without endangering your motor.

Have the radiator cleaned and flushed thoroughly before doing this.

How about a battery? Nothing worse than going to a cold garage on a Winter morning and finding out your battery is so weak it won't "kick over" the engine. Have Mr. Ross check your old battery and get it charged if necessary. If it won't take a good charge, invest in a new one. A good battery is the powerhouse of your automobile and lasts a long time with proper care.

And your tires Are they starting to wear smooth? If so, by all means replace them. Poor tires are a driving hazard, could cause a bad accident, even your life.

Have hose connections checked and replaced where worn. Get a good lubrication job and have Mr. Ross drain old oil from the crankcase and put in new Penzoil.

Then you'll be set for carefree Fall motoring.

German Upsets Randy Sandy

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UP)—Frank Szuzina, a stocky German middleweight, said today he hopes to move into the better paying big-time fight circle because of his surprise win Friday night over lanky Randy Sandy.

"I've been in the country 16 months and have fought 17 times so it's about time I started paying my way," the five-foot six-inch fighter said following his unanimous win over Sandy in a televised 10-round bout.

Referee Joe Palmer scored it 6-3 and one even for the 161-pound Szuzina. Judge Ray Kahl scored it 5-3-2 and Judge Dick Albino had it 5-4-1, the same as the UP card. Sandy, a New Yorker, weighed 155.

Willie Mays, Roy Sievers Playing 'Most Valuable Player' Baseball

By FRED DOWN

Willie Mays and Roy Sievers don't have the tradional advantage of playing for pennant contenders but there probably wouldn't be a whisper of protest among baseball men if they won the year's most valuable player awards.

The New York Giants' brilliant all-around star and the Washington Senators' slugger were "one-man gangs" again Friday night as they sought to nail down statistical proof of their great seasons Mays had four hits and threw out a runner at the plate as the Giants whipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-3, while Sievers drove in three runs with a pair of homers to lead the Senators to an 11-6 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics.

The Giants' victory held the Cardinals five games behind the first-place Milwaukee Braves, who bowed to the Brooklyn Dodgers 5-1, in the National League race while the only significance of the Senators' win was they now have a mere 14 games to play before they can watch the World Series on TV

Braves Drop 7th of 11

The Dodgers scored four runs on three hits and four straight walks in the seventh inning to deal the wobbly Braves their seventh loss in 11 games. Don Drysdale struck out five and allowed only five hits in gaining his 15th victory compared to nine defeats.

Smokey Burgess' eighth - inning homer provided the margin of victory as the Cincinnati Redlegs outslugged the Philadelphia Phillies 8-7, and the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Chicago Cubs, 4-1 and 2-1, in other NL games.

In the American League, the New York Yankees widened their lead to six games with a 7-1 triumph over the second-place Chicago White Sox and the Cleveland Indians crushed the Boston Red Sox, 16-3. Detroit at Baltimore was rained out.

Johnny Kluppstein was the co-hero for the Redlegs, coming out of the bullpen in the ninth to retire Willie Jones and Chico Fernandez and stop a three-run Philadelphia uprising.

Friend Cops 12th

Bob Friend pitched a six-hitter for his 12th victory as Hank Foiles and Bob Skinner homered and Bob Smith won his second game when Gene Freese singled home the winning run in the ninth for the Pirates.

Sievers tied the score at 6-6 for the Senators with a two-run homer in the sixth and hit a solo round-tripper in the seventh as Washington rallied from an early 6-3 deficit.

Mantle returned to action with a triple and a double to lead a 13-hit Yankee attack that all but buried the White Sox' pennant hopes. Billy Pierce, Chicago's 19-game winner, was kayoed in 2 1-3 innings.

Dick Williams had five hits and Bobby Avila had four to lead a 21-hit Cleveland attack that enabled Mike Garcia to breeze to his 11th win.

Hungry Thieves

BETTENDORF, Iowa (UP)—Police today had a fair idea of the grounds on which they will arrest thieves who broke into a market. Picnic grounds. The burglars stole instead of money, lunch meat, bread, cheese, cold beer and cigarettes.

UN Resolution to Condemn Russia for Hungary Is Passed

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) — The United Nations General Assembly by a 60-10 vote, with 10 abstentions, early today adopted a new resolution condemning Russia's brutal suppression of last year's Hungarian freedom revolt.

The resolution, sponsored by the United States and 36 other countries, also named its retiring assembly president, Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand, to seek Soviet and Hungarian compliance with previous resolutions. They demanded Russia get its troops out of Hungary and permit free elections.

The vote was hailed as a resounding victory for the West, confronted with stern Communist opposition and an attempt by Asian "neutralists" to water down the resolution.

Tops Original

It topped the margin on the original condemnation of Russia's Hungarian action, voted last Dec. 12. Then the tally was 55-8 with 13 abstentions.

In today's vote, only the nine-nation Soviet bloc and Yugoslavia opposed the resolution. Nine members of the Afro-Asian groups and Finland abstained. South Africa was absent.

The Afro-Asian abstainers were Afghanistan, Ceylon, Egypt, India, Indonesia, Nepal, Saudi Arabia, Syria and Yemen.

Prince Wan said after the assembly session that he planned to go to Moscow as the first step toward obtaining compliance with the previous assembly resolutions.

India had suggested that instead of such a plan, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold—once spurned by the Hungarians—should accept Budapest's invitation to visit there.

Accepts Assignment

Prince Wan said he accepted the assignment as the assembly's special representative "in a spirit of service."

"I can, and certainly will do my best," he said. "Does that hold out any hope of success? My answer is that where there is a will there is a way. I have absolute faith in the rightness of the U.N. cause and the cause of freedom of the Hungarian people."

The Western sponsors went through a nervous moment when a test vote was taken on a series of amendments offered by Burma, the chief of which proposed replacing the word "condemns" with "deplores" in a key section of the resolution.

Only two countries voted for that, and while 45 opposed it, 30 abstained.

Total Segregation

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UP)—The City Council today ordered the end of experimental integration on selected street car routes and the return to total segregation on city transportation.

From Broadway—

Busy Season Planned On Broadway; To Open Wednesday, Sept. 25

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK — (UP) — The lineup for the first couple of months of the 1957-58 Broadway theatrical season looks like this (but don't sue if a date is changed here and there or an entry drops out altogether):

Sept. 25 — "Four Winds" at the Cort Theater. This is a play by Thomas W. Phipps, best known as a TV playwright. England's Ann Todd co-stars with Peter Cookson. The career of a well-known American millionairess is said to have inspired the plot.

Sept. 26 — "West Side Story," a musical, at the Winter Garden. Libretto by playwright Arthur Laurents, music by the eminent Leonard Bernstein and lyrics by newcomer Stephen Sondheim. Directed over-all and dance-wise by the highly successful Jerome Robbins. A tale of two New York gangs cut to the classic "Romeo and Juliet" pattern. No "names" in the case, but the advance sale is big.

Oct. 1 — "Look Back in Anger" by John Osborne at the Lyceum Theater. Imported from London where the drama made a big stir last season.

O'Brien Comes Back

Oct. 2 — "The Saturday Night Kid" by Jack Dunphy at the Morosco. Shelly Winters and Alex Nicol co-star.

Oct. 3 — "Miss Lonelyhearts" at the Music Box. Howard Teichmann's adaptation of the late Nathanael West's novel about a newspaperman who conducts an "advice to the lovelorn" column. Pat O'Brien back on Broadway after 25 years in films.

Oct. 7 — "A Boy Growing Up" at the Longacre. This is a limited engagement by Emlyn Williams reading from the stories of the late Welsh poet, Dylan Thomas.

Oct. 9 — "The Egghead" by Mollie Kazan at the Ethel Barrymore. Karl Malden is starred.

Oct. 10 — "Romanoff and Juliet" at the Plymouth. This is Peter Ustinov's huge London success, with the author again starring in it here.

Oct. 12 — "The Cave Dwellers" at the Bijou. William Saroyan's first Broadway production since 1943. Eugenie Leontovich is the star.

Oct. 14 — "Compulsion" at the Ambassador. Meyer Levin's dramatization of his best-selling novel based on the Loeb-Leopold case.

Oct. 15 — "Under Milk Wood" at the Henry Miller. Dylan Thomas' play about life in a Welsh town.

Oct. 16 — "Nature's Way" at the Coronet is the latest work of Herman Wouk.

Oct. 17 — "Copper and Brass," a musical, at the Martin Beck. Nancy Walker stars in this story of a woman policeman and a jazz musician. Very large advance for this one.

Oct. 22 — "Monique" at the John Golden, a psychological horror play adapted by Michael Blankfort from a French novel. Patricia Jessel and Denholm Elliot are starred.

Oct. 30 — "The Square Root of Wonderful" at the National. Second play by Carson McCullers who won Critics' Circle best play award in 1949-1950 for "The Member of the Wedding." Movies' Anne Baxter is starred.

Oct. 31 — "Jamaica," musical at the Imperial. Lena Horne is starred in this Harold Arlen work. Advance sale will be over million-dollar mark.

TV NOTES

ABC has made a sudden change in its schedule for "Tales of the Texas Rangers" and "The Lone Ranger." They have been listed to start the new season Sept. 21. They have been shifted to Sept. 22, and will be seen weekly on Sundays at 5 and 5:30 p. m., respectively.

Your Health—

Your Reading Ability Should Be Improved

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Your eyes literally are your window to the world. From the very first time you open them as a squalling infant until the day you close them forever, you are constantly gaining knowledge through your eyes.

Much of this knowledge — and a great deal of entertainment, too — is obtained by reading. Yet how many of you are using your eyes to the best of your ability? How many of you read as fast as you should?

Studies carried out at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center near Chicago showed that the reading rates of those participating in the survey improved an average of more than 45 per cent by training in reading.

Now I'm not saying that you or your children will be able to read twice as fast just by following these simple suggestions, but I'm sure that it will improve your reading ability a great deal.

Therefore you and your children should:

1. Have an eye examination to correct any visual errors.

2. Make a firm resolution to read faster. Determination alone can accomplish a lot.

3. Learn to read a whole phrase or even an entire sentence at a glance. The fewer times the eye pauses, the higher your reading speed will be. Read newspaper columns in as large an eyeful as possible. Three or four pauses per line are considered good. More than four is poor.

4. Establish a quick rhythm in moving your eyes across the page. Be sure they automatically progress to the next line on the return trip. Not only will this increase reading speed, it also will reduce eye fatigue.

5. Cut down on the number of times you have to go back and pick up something you didn't fully take in. The will to concentrate will be very helpful here.

6. Move only your eyes when you read. If you move your head and neck you will soon become tired and be less able to concentrate.

7. Read at a faster rate than is comfortable at first to force yourself to read without moving your lips or sounding the words. To help break a habit of reading aloud, chew gum or hold a pencil between your teeth as you read.

8. Don't use pencils, rulers or cards to keep your place while reading. Unless you have a special focusing problem, this a needless weakness.

Jimmy Dean Show 'Live' Tonight At Syria Mosque

The on location boys at KDKA-TV will undertake a major project tonight when they televise the Jimmy Dean show 'live' from the stage of the Syria Mosque and feed it to the rest of the nation via the CBS Network.

To be televised at 10:30 p.m., the show will also feature guest stars Jaye P. Morgan and George Hamilton IV, both firm favorites in Pittsburgh, as well as the regular members of the Jimmy Dean cast including the Texas Wildcats, the Country Lads, Jan Crockett, Jo Davis, Mary Klick and Alec Houston and Elmer.

A popular favorite with television audiences all over the country, Dean is seen each morning on Channel 2 from 7:45 a.m. His outstanding success in the first few months caused CBS to hand the country music star a 30-minute Saturday evening spot for the summer. This has been so well received that the network intends to continue the program, stretch it to one hour and place it in the 12 noon to 1 p.m. time on Saturdays, effective Sept. 28.

Prefabricated Homes Have Come Long Way

Prefabricated homes have come a long way from the plywood Nissen huts and corrugated steel Quonsets that sheltered GIs during World War II.

Today, "prefabs' are widely accepted in both lower and middle-priced home brackets and are reaching out for the "luxury" home market.

A new home built in Toledo by Scholz Homes, Inc., fits into a high-priced neighborhood as well as any of the conventionally constructed homes surrounding it.

Completely Air-Conditioned

The house has eight rooms, three baths, a full basement, and is completely air conditioned and insulated. It was built to sell for $45,000, including the cost of a large lot on an exclusive street.

Despite its "custom' look, the house is a standard model and can be reproduced anywhere east of the Rockies. Framing, wall and roof panels, asphalt shingles, and ponderosa pine windows are included in the factory pre-assembled "package."

Various "prefab" manufacturers differ in how much of the final house package they supply, but most include wall, floor, and ceiling panels and roof trusses or rafters, for delivery by trailer to the prepared foundation.

The panels are factory-assembled on large flat jigs by trained labor, inspected by supervisors, then loaded in correct sequence so that they go into place at the site quickly and fit together perfectly. "Under roof and lock and key in one day" is the "prefab" manufacturers' boast.

Roof Color Choice

The local builder-dealer adds finish flooring according to local taste, and masonry exteriors and fireplaces when desired. The customer normally has the choice of asphalt roof shingle color, so that the roof, usually the most dominant feauture of any house, will fit in with the neighborhood and the customer's own decorating plan.

Rich blue asphalt shingles set the tone for the subtle gray brick exterior of the Toledo house. Preservative-treated, Colonial-style wood windows and exterior ponderosa pine panel doors are architecturally correct for the traditionally designed house. The doors are pre-hung with factory precision.

The house is fully insulated with mineral wool thicknesses recommended for maximum economy in air-conditioned homes: six inches of mineral wool between the ceiling joists, four inches in the walls. The slab model has two-inch perimeter insulation all around. Research has shown that such quantities of insulation reduce the house by permitting a smaller cooling unit. Operating costs are materially reduced.

Construction in State Is Down

HARRISBURG (UP) — Housing construction in Pennsylvania took a 14 per cent nosedive during the first three months of this year, but building is holding up better than that in neighboring states.

The state Commerce Department said today Pennsylvania's non - farm housing construction dropped from 9,000 dewllings during the first quarter of last year to 7,800 for the same period in 1957.

Construction dipped 34 per cent in New Jersey, 32 in New York and 16 in Ohio. The department said the Pennsylvania decrease was aboutt he same as the national average.

More Basements In New Houses

Houses with basements showed a slight gain in 1956, according to the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, which reports that 82 per cent of all homes have basements or crawl space.

Greater use of lumber for floor construction seems assured. Women find it much easier on their backs and legs if their floors are built of wood, which has a fine "give".

Nails driven in at an angle will have greater holding power. When more than one nail is used in a line, they should be slanted in opposite directions.

HERE'S HOW...

MAKE A CUP RACK

Fine china given proper care will provide many extra years of service. Cups tend to suffer the most abuse from improper storage. To prevent worn or broken handles and chipped edges, cups should be placed flat rather than hung. A rack which provides for flat storage can be made of 1 by 12, 1 by 10-inch lumber and ½-inch quarter round moulding.

Make the base of 1 by 12-inch lumber, rounding the leading edge as shown. The back, made of 1 by 10-inch lumber, is rounded at its top edge.

The rack is made of 1 by 12-inch lumber beveled at the edges. Fasten ½-inch quarter round moulding along the sides and at the center of the rack. Position the rack 3 inches in from the leading edge of the base and 1¾ inches from the top edge of the back.

Use 6-penny finishing nails to assemble the back, shelf and rack, and 1 inch brads for the moulding.

Do-it-yourself Project Can Be Rewarding

Reach for a do-it-yourself project instead of a tranquilizing pill.

That's the advice more and more doctors are handing out today to ease the tensions of modern living. A simple home improvement project can be both relaxing and rewarding.

A popular do-it-yourself project is home insulation. Installing batts or blankets of mineral wool is light work which requires no special skills, uses ordinary tools, and the finished job will mean more year-around comfort plus heating and air conditioning economy.

Walls. For greatest comfort, wall insulation should be thick enough to fill the space between studs to its full depth. Fit blankets of insulation neatly in stud spaces (1), and cut batts to fit odd shapes. (2). Always leave flanges of vapor barrier at ends for stapling at top and bottom of wall

Keep the vapor barrier on the warm side of the wall and staple every six inches along stud. A staple gun makes this go faster. Work the batt or blanket behind small water pipes (3), leaving vapor barrier intact.

Ceilings. With vapor barrier down on warm side of ceiling, fit insulation tightly in place between joists. No stapling is necessary, but ends of insulation blankets should fit tightly together. For the most effective job, the mineral wool should be a minimum of three inches thick. Six-inch batts are recommended for air conditioned or electrically heated homes.

—Questions and Answers—

Q — Our new home was advertised as "completely insulated." But we've discovered blankets of insulation about two inches thick in the attic floors and presume this is the thickness throughout. Is this enough insulation?

A — A good rule to remember about insulation is: The thicker it is, the more comfort it gives. Most insulation engineers agree that two inches is not enough for year-around comfort and economy. Current recommendations are that the walls be filled with mineral wool — just under four inches — and that the ceilings have thicknesses of four inches or more, six inches if the house is air conditioned. In your case, a specialist who installs mineral wool in walls and ceilings under pneumatic pressure could add greatly to your comfort and economy.

Q — We'd like to fasten wood paneling for our basement recreation room directly to steel columns supporting the floor above. Is there any special technique for doing this?

A — A quick,e asy and reliable method is to use hardened threaded nails driven through paneling into small holes drilled in hte steel columns. Make the holes slightly smaler than the diameter of the nai.

Q — Strong detergents and abrasive cleaners have failed to remove smoke stain from brick-work on our fireplace. What can we use to get the stain off?

A — Make a smooth thick paste of tri-chlorethylene and talcum powder. Apply with a towel, allow to dry, then scrape off. Repeat until stain has diappeared, then wash area thoroughly with clear water.
